Profile

Motivated and technically minded individual with customer service experience from working at Motor Parts Direct in Leeds, where I supported customers, resolved issues and developed strong communication skills in a fast-paced environment. I am currently studying a Level 2 IT qualification and have hands-on experience with Linux and Windows systems, beginner Python programming, and intermediate HTML, CSS and JavaScript. I have also built and repaired PCs for several years, gaining entry-level IT support or trainee role where I can combine my technical knowledge with strong customer service skills while continuing to grow within the IT field.
